

Virtual Co-Production Groups

Introducing our Peers4Peers Co-Production Groups. Our co-production groups are a collaborative space where people come together as equals to talk about adoption issues and create services that work for everyone involved.

Peer Support is central to co production work. It is a space to talk about where your current situation, any challenges, thoughts and reflections. The strength of peer group support is that parents can listen to, learn from, and validate each other's experiences.

Themes and issues that arise can also be thought about in the context of the service offer and how these issues are supported. The idea behind the co-production element of the group is that those who use services are best placed to help design and improve them.
